

Virtual Team Dynamics

Patrick Lencioni,
The Five
Dysfunctions of a
Team (2002)

Building Trust while working virtually

Technology

- Everyone using the same technology
- Everyone comfortable with the technology
- Clarity on when to use which form of technology
 - Email
 - Microsoft Teams
 - Slack
 - Zoom
 - Phone
 - Text

Specific behaviors

Zoom meetings or conference calls

- What does participation on zoom meetings or conference calls look like?
- What time of participation is expected?
- Offer multiple forms of participation in each meeting (chat, raise hand, etc.)

Email

- Expected response time?
- o Email structure and tone?
- o Hours for email responses? (e.g. 9am-5pm)

Explicit process and task

- What tasks or products are on the table?
- Who is responsible for what piece
- What is the timeline for each piece?
- What is the process for checking in with each other?

Familiarity and friendship

- Space and time to see how each person is feeling – repeat consistently
- Optional virtual social activities and engagement

Conflict

- How do you respond when someone raises an issue? – be consistent
- Does each member of the team know how the team will address conflicts?
 - What will each person say and do?
